Profile

Whether families are coming together or going their separate ways, these major decisions are often fraught with emotion and can lead people to make rash or poor decisions. With such high personal stakes, our family law team helps clients by separating the people from the issues to reach their best possible outcome and move forward.

Nicole appreciates how overwhelming family matters can be. She supports our clients by demystifying and streamlining the legal administrative processes, assists with completing applications and submissions, and provides document management and compliance services.

With over 15 years of experience as a legal professional across several Canadian provinces, Nicole has gained practical knowledge, network contacts, and access to resources in other jurisdictions to assist our local clients with their extra-provincial needs.

Everyone is affected by family law, either directly or indirectly. Nicole is proud to be part of a team committed to helping people through their most difficult personal challenges with professionalism and empathy.
