Profile

While unique challenges face each industry, people are at the heart of every business - from the individuals that contribute to our success, to the community that we shape along the way and the legacy that we leave behind.

As the legal landscape is constantly evolving, Sarah recognizes the difficulties individuals and businesses face as they navigate changes and plan for the future.

With a practice dedicated to supporting our lawyers in all aspects of corporate and commercial transactions, Sarah works closely with our clients and their professional advisors to implement corporate and tax reorganizations that realize a client's vision and intent for the future.

Sarah finds joy in getting to know our clients, learning their views and perspectives, and supporting them as they grow and contribute to our community.
