Profile

Capital markets transactions often represent a major step in a company's growth, but the legal work involved can be complex. Manveer is keenly aware of this and approaches his work with a methodical approach while providing clear communication to our clients every step of the way.

Manveer works with our capital markets team to assist companies from a range of industries with their strategic goals. In particular, he works on financings, public offerings, and related transactions and documentation.

Prior to his career in law, Manveer held government economic and business development roles and worked on inquiry commissions established by the province. These experiences honed Manveer's communication skills, both written and verbal, and developed the detail-oriented nature he brings to his legal work. He was also regularly involved in sensitive conversations and navigating competing perspectives to find a mutually beneficial path forward.

Manveer was drawn to practice within Capital Markets, Securities, Mergers & Acquisitions for the varied work and diverse range of clients. He also appreciates the opportunity to play a part in our client's success while continuously challenging and developing himself.
